Comprehensive Cancer Care – Here & Now, Every Day

 Battling cancer causes stress physically, mentally, spiritually, emotionally and financially. A strong support system and top-notch medical care makes the difference. That’s why Genesis Cancer Services strives to ease patients’ burdens and provide comprehensive, quality care through its ever-updating services.

The latest in cancer care available in Zanesville, in addition to the new Genesis Breast Center, includes:

Genesis Hematology & Cancer Treatment Center

The center opened in October 2010 with a focus on all dimensions of cancer patients’ needs. The center blends an innovative approach to care with little extras that can make a big impact on a patient battling cancer.

Chairs with heat and massage line the full-service chemotherapy suite, a specialized oncology pharmacist works on-site, and members from medical oncology, genetics, distress management, nutrition services and physical rehabilitation all work together to ensure patients are given compassionate, quality care.

“This is not just a medical oncology office – it’s a comforting, supportive home for patients with cancer,” said Scott Wegner, M.D., medical director of medical oncology services at the Genesis Hematology & Cancer Treatment Center. “The little things that take extra effort show we’re focused on patients, like how our nurse navigators call patients as soon as test results are ready, so patients don’t wait longer than necessary.”

Nurse Navigators Guide Patients

Nurse navigators help patients through their cancer treatment and reduce some of the stress and hassle that accompanies scheduling appointments, learning where to go for treatment and checking with insurance companies. The navigators answer questions and stay nearby patients from start to finish. Wendy Long, R.N., is the breast nurse navigator, helping patients with breast cancer. Carrie Lee, R.N., is the oncology nurse navigator, and she assists patients who have other kinds of cancer.

“You don’t have to trade off between convenience and quality,” Patients don’t want to drive more than an hour away, fighting traffic and parking, to know they’re getting up-to-date cancer care,” he said. “These accreditations prove they can get the best care available, right here.”

Providing Free Mammograms for Those in Need

Genesis serves three counties with unemployment rates significantly higher than state averages. Thanks to grants from Susan G. Komen for the Cure, National City Bank and the National Breast Cancer Foundation, Genesis offers free mammograms to under- or uninsured women in the community.

“If we couldn’t provide these services, many women would not end up being screened on an annual basis,” Parker said. “This program saves lives.”

More than 1,000 women received free mammograms during the past five years through this program. Qualifying patients also receive free follow-up care for additional testing if necessary.

Committed to Give You the Best

With all of these advancements and more, physicians, nurses and staff at Genesis remain committed to giving you the best care possible, in the same community in which you live.

Revolving care around the patients reduces the stress and confusion involved with scheduling, traveling and waiting for the next appointment. A group of clinicians and other professionals, the Breast Program Leadership team, has been leading the effort to provide coordinated, comprehensive care to breast patients and has been instrumental in the development of the breast center. In addition, weekly prospective breast cancer conferences are held with a multidisciplinary team comprised of radiologists, medical and radiation oncologists, surgeons, pathologists, genetics nurse and Breast Nurse Navigator to discuss and create individualized treatment plans.

“We are tailoring our care around our patients. We want a welcoming environment where we can provide timely, efficient multidisciplinary and patient-centered care,” said Firas Eladoumikdachi, M.D., a specialist in breast surgery who recently completed a fellowship at Northwestern University/Lynn Sage Comprehensive Breast Center in Chicago.

A team of highly skilled, experienced surgeons perform breast surgery at Genesis, including David Barbara, M.D., Thomas Diehl, M.D., Firas Eladoumikdachi, M.D., and Jan Elston, M.D. The expertise of all involved who specialize in breast care is part of the reason Genesis recently earned a three-year, full accreditation designation by the National Accreditation Program for Breast Centers (NAPBC).

“No matter if breast centers are in a big city or a small town, they undergo the same accreditation process. Genesis provides an excellent level of care – and our new breast center is going to create an even better experience,” Dr. Eladoumikdachi said.

Specialized Physician Care

Pain and sickness don’t pay attention to the clock. When patients have to be in the hospital, they need a doctor available, no matter if it’s day or night, Saturday or Sunday, or holidays. That’s why Genesis hospitalists and intensivists began providing 24/7 coverage in September 2010.

“Having inhouse hospitalists and intensivists available at all times is unheard of for a hospital of our size and location,” said Kelly Dials, M.S.N., C.N.R.N., NE/BC, director of nursing administration and hospitalists program. “In just the last couple of years, our hospitalists’ program has expanded tremendously, and we are able to provide a high level of care for patients in our community.”

Hospitalists are physicians who specialize in the care of hospitalized patients and work solely in a hospital setting. They have the same education and training as other physicians, and many have additional training and certifications. All Genesis hospitalists are board-certified in family practice or internal medicine. They coordinate diagnostic testing and consultations with other specialists, and then communicate with patients’ primary care physicians to guarantee continuity of care. This communication has been recently enhanced with the implementation of Epic, the electronic health record system, which enables physicians who have Epic in their offices to view patients’ medical records quickly and securely.

Intensivists are hospitalists with training and experience to specialize in treating critically ill patients. At Genesis, many intensivists are also pulmonologists – physicians with specialized lung and respiratory training. Intensivists treat patients suffering from trauma, shock, respiratory failure, heart attacks and other acute medical conditions like COPD, asthma exacerbation and pneumonia.

Genesis’ 10 intensivists and 13 hospitalists work together to provide hospital patients with personalized and high quality care, around the clock, every day of the year.

“Many other hospitals have either intensivists or hospitalists, and most programs with 24-hour coverage are based in a university setting. We feel that combining hospitalists and intensivists, and having them on-site during all hours, is the wave of the future,” said Michael Metry, M.D., medical director of Genesis Inpatient Specialists. “Our quality of program is extremely rare in the United States among rural hospitals.”

This high quality of patient-focused care attracted Patrick Renaud, M.D., a hospitalist who grew up in Zanesville and then created a thriving practice in Kentucky. Dr. Renaud and his family chose to move back to their roots in October 2010, so he could join Genesis’ hospitalists team.

“The stand-out feature of Genesis’ program is the 24-hour intensivist coverage. I’ve also been impressed with the genuine friendship and collegiality among the hospitalists and intensivists – which says a lot about how happy the physicians are,” Dr. Renaud said. “It’s clear that the patients are the center of all we do, and I’m honored to be a part of this team.”

Patrick Renaud, M.D.
Hospital Medicine

Patrick Renaud, M.D., has joined Genesis as a board-certified hospitalist. Dr. Renaud is a graduate of Wright State University School of Medicine in Dayton, Ohio. He completed a combined internal medicine/pediatrics residency at Case Western Reserve University at MetroHealth Medical Center in Cleveland, Ohio.

Jai Sood, M.D.
Critical Care Medicine/Pulmonology

Jai Sood, M.D., is a board-certified internal medicine and board-eligible pulmonary, critical care and sleep medicine physician who has joined Genesis as intensivist. Dr. Sood received his doctor of medicine degree from Windsor University in Bassaterre, St. Kitts. He completed his internal medicine residency at Kettering Medical Center in Kettering, Ohio, and completed his pulmonary/critical care fellowship at Fitcher Allen Healthcare at the University of Vermont in Burlington, Vermont. He is practicing both inpatient and outpatient pulmonology in addition to critical care medicine.

Charitable Gift Annuity
Has Much to Offer
in a Topsy-Turvy World

While stocks may be down and unemployment up, there is one thing that has not changed. It's something that can give you certainty, predictability and security in a topsy-turvy world – a Genesis Charitable Gift Annuity.

Age 85 = 8.1%
Age 75 = 6.4%
Age 65 = 5.5%

“The gift annuity is a great option for me,” said Fred Grant, Zanesville resident. “It allows me to remember my late wife, Belle, in a special way and support Genesis for the wonderful care provided to her. At the same time, it is a wonderful, tax-friendly investment for which I receive guaranteed life income.”
